The Market Looking Well for Holder y, Y. Bullst'n of Saturday.
On domestic wools the general tone ap pears to be still working in favor of the selling interest, and our market offers promising features for most grades. Owners have become more than ever convinced that wool at present prices is good property, and are holding, with a determina-tion to stand out stiffly for full rates as of late reached on actual business; and while too much buoyancy is considered somewhat dangerous at the moment, a further what dangerous at the moment, a further addition to cost is certainly a part of present calculations. Many parcels of the desirable quality are also held above a limit of any price yet established, but the extremes asked are meeting some opposition, and in form to indicate that buyers have not as yet abandoned the cautious aprit by which their operations have for some time been guided. Manufacturers are willing to handle wool, and anticipate their wants to a fair extent, but do not feel well enough assured as to the prospects for the goods. ready submitted to 5aloc per cent. recov-ery on price from the lowest, negotiate with greater care. Advices from the east-larger trade than there has been for seme time, and stocks of many kinds are largely reduced. The market is now firm, with a confident feeling. Holders in the country have generally advanced their views, which are, at present, above relative Eastern prices. There has consequently been but little wool lately come forward. Ohin fleece is scarce, and in demand at full quotations. Michigan and similar wools have advanced one to two cents a pound, the stock here being very light. Colorado and New Mexican have also met with better sale."
